ESA•ISA 2024

12-15 JUNE 2024 - Toulouse, France

The joint meeting of ESA (European Strabismological Association) and ISA (International Strabismological Association) is one of the most important international scientific events in strabismology happening every two years. It is a great pleasure and a great honor for our local team to welcome you in the beautiful city of Toulouse for the next joint ESA and ISA congress, in June 2024.

The meeting will take place in the Pierre Baudis Convention Center located downtown with easy access from airport and by car.

On behalf of the scientific committee, we will do everything to keep this highest scientific level, and to ensure that this congress is also a convivial occasion not to be missed.

Toulouse is above all known as a world capital of aeronautics and aerospace. But our historic city and its region have much more to discover, as you will see on the congress website. We hope you'll take extra time to enjoy. French Southwest should be able to satisfy all your tastes. The season will be ideal, and the city is particularly lively in June.

See you soon in Toulouse
